DISCLOSURE – PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

As part of my work with Marna Currie, I will learn about something called Emotional Freedom Techniques (EFT) and Matrix Reimprinting, which is a type of energy release technique. EFT is a relatively new approach to stress relief and the extent of its effectiveness, as well as its risks and benefits, are not fully known. The prevailing idea is that EFT uses the ancient Chinese meridian system to help alleviate stresses by balancing the energy system with a gentle tapping procedure. The procedure involves acupressure (tapping with my fingertips) on acupuncture points (called acupoints) on the face, upper body and hands with the goal of stimulating designated meridian end-points on the face and body. While many people experience benefits with EFT, others do not. There is no scientific explanation regarding why EFT works for some people and does not work for others.

_____ (Please initial)

Marna Currie is not a licensed psychiatrist, psychologist, social worker, or mental health professional. She is not licensed or trained to diagnose any form of mental illness, and she is also not licensed to prescribe or recommend any medication. I understand that I will not be receiving any form of mental health counseling at Marna Currie.
